

Positive Reporting

Steve Kirk—JBA

Ian Clegg and Kenny Brunskill— Stones Technical Services

Thanks go to the three guys mentioned above for reporting the presence of the items pictured on the rack above the Central Road with the potential to fall from height. As the rope access work progressed they discovered more items with the potential to fall including a section of unistrut and a scaffold clip and duly removed the hazards.

These are great observations and an excellent demonstration of a proactive approach to safety.

This is also a free lesson in demonstrating the importance of maintaining a high standard of housekeeping and ensuring that work areas (especially those at height) are cleared of all unnecessary materials when work is completed.
